Course Introduction

Coordination and administrative follow-up are key objectives of any management system. The practice of administrative functions ensures effective coordination, and when communication is well-established, the goals of any organization—regardless of its nature—are achieved.

This course is specifically designed for professionals working in coordination and administrative follow-up departments at various managerial levels. It is based on thorough studies and research on the actual training needs of multiple administrative units.

The program aims to enhance and elevate the efficiency of coordination and follow-up between various departments within organizations, including those in the public sector, energy companies, and private enterprises. By fostering horizontal and vertical harmony, the course helps improve job performance across administrative entities. Moreover, it aims to develop coordination and follow-up skills, enabling seamless collaboration across different departments in government institutions. This ultimately leads to better execution of tasks, improved organizational performance, and achieving institutional objectives effectively.

General Objective of the Training Course
