The Course

Facilities like buildings, utility plants, power & water distribution networks, production plants, parking lots and landscaping become more and more flexible, complex and expensive. That is why Facilities Management is big business nowadays. It is one of the largest budget expenses and therefore one of the major sources of cost savings. However not at all costs, because facilities are a major asset too.

This course shows you how to apply the Best Practices to organize and manage a facilities department as a successful “business within a business”. The goal is to operate and maintain the facilities in an effective and efficient way, in order to integrate function, people and place. The course is about finding the right balance between asset performance (functionality, availability, reliability, safety) and costs, about the right balance between operating and maintaining the facilities in-house or contracting it out.

The Goals

Provide best practices, tools and a practical approach for taking facilities management to a higher level:

- Understand the basic elements of facilities management
- Assess the current state of the delegates’ facilities management process
- Learn what best practices are available and best suitable for implementation in the delegates' organization

- Recognize the need of a proper operational & maintenance control center
- Understand how to draw up a (preventive) maintenance concept, based on risk
- Develop strategies to decide when and what to contract out
- Understand the different contract types and how to apply them
- To learn how to monitor performance and results
- To understand how a benchmark study can help in improving the process
- To be able to share experience and knowledge with others

The Process

The course will be conducted along workshop principles with formal lectures, case studies, group discussion and interactive practical exercises. There will be many opportunities for discussion and sharing experiences.
