Introduction

The HR function has to be the bridge between the workforce and the organisation. It also has to be the eyes, ears and sometimes the conscience of the organisation. This seminar will show you how to build that bridge and how to create an HR function that meets the needs of employees and the organisation.

The seminar you will cover:

- The essential (or basic) component parts of an effective HR (or Personnel) function
- Ideas for developing the function beyond the essential parts
- The distinctions between the role of line supervisors/managers and the HR function
- Who does what for example with
 - Handling change
 - Recruitment
 - Handling performance issues
 - Use of disciplinary procedure
- The application of the theory of the Psychological Contract (how to get the best from the workforce)

Objectives

By the end of the programme, participants will be able to:

- Describe the role or purpose of the HR function and the contribution the HR function makes to the achievement of organisational goals
- Explain the key principles and practices involved in
 - HR strategy
 - Recruitment and Selection
 - Induction
 - Retention
 - Employee Relations
- Apply an effective performance management process
- Understand and use Competencies

Training Methodology

The training methodology used is designed to encourage maximum participation by all delegates. The presenter will suggest ideas and theories to the delegates and then encourage them to test out the ideas by the use of discussion, small group work, exercises and feedback. Each day of the seminar will end by delegates completing their own record of what has been learned on the day and considering how the ideas might be transferred back to the workplace.

Organisational Impact

The purpose of this seminar from an organisations point of view is to develop an effective approach to Human Resource Management. As a result, an organisation which applies these ideas will:

- Know how to get the best from their greatest asset - their workforce
- Know how to handle change effectively from an HR point of view

- Know how to increase productivity
- Know how to improve morale
- Know how to improve motivation
- Have an HR function which closely and in a mutually supportive way with the full line management team including Supervisors and Team Leaders

Personal Impact

As a result of attending this seminar, delegates will:

- Be effective in a range of circumstances encountered by HR professionals
- Be confident in their approach to HR management
- Be confident in their dealing with line managers, Supervisors and Team Leaders
- Know how an effective HR function is structured
